

SHOT DOWN
BY STRANGERPostmaster Morgan of New York Victim

ASSAILANT SHOT HIMSELF

Erick McKay, the Wouldbe Murderer,
Simply Inquired as to Identity of Man and Then Fired Revolver.

New York, Nov. 9.—Edward M. Morgan, postmaster of New York City, was shot and seriously wounded today by a man who accosted him on the street near his home. The assassin was Erick McKay, a stenographer, who immediately after his deed blew out his own brains. It was at first thought that Postmaster Morgan was fatally wounded but more hope is now expressed for his recovery. When the assassin approached Mr. Morgan he asked:

"Is this Mr. Morgan?"

On receiving an affirmative answer he pressed a revolver against Mr. Morgan's stomach and fired. As his victim fell he put the weapon to his own head and fired a fatal shot. He died probably instantly. Mr. Morgan was at once removed to the hospital. An operation was there performed and it was found that the intestines were not perforated. On making that discovery the physicians were encouraged and they now expect that Postmaster Morgan has a good chance for recovery.

The indications are that McKay for some time deliberately plotted to murder Mr. Morgan, for a card was found on the clothing, on which was written in pencil:

"In the event of any accident please notify above firm, which was Hunt, Hill and Betts, attorneys, inquiry at their office today developed the information that McKay had been a stenographer.

Before becoming postmaster of New York Mr. Morgan was in charge of many investigations of dishonesty in connection with the work of postal clerks of this city. The police have a theory that McKay may at some time have suffered from Morgan's vigilance.

Boston, Nov. 9.—The fog which curtailed the Massachusetts coast this morning was responsible for a trolley crash on the Saugus marshes, near Revere, which injured ten persons. Two cars on the Boston & Northern railroad met head-on, at a turn. The vestibules and windows were smashed. Most of the injuries were due to flying glass. None was injured seriously.

DEFENDED MOTHER

To the Extent of Fatally Wounding His Father.

Elizabeth N. J., Nov. 9.—While defending himself and mother from the attacks of his father, Albert Messig, Jr., 18 years old, yesterday shot and probably fatally wounded Albert Messig, a butcher. Two bullets lodged in Messig's head. A third shattered the bone in the right jaw and a fourth lodged in Messig's right shoulder.

Messig, according to the story told by his son, had been drinking heavily for several weeks. Sunday when he quarreled with and attacked his wife, the boy tried to interfere. Thereupon, the son says, the father pulled a revolver and fired a shot at his wife, which went wild. He then pointed the weapon at the son, but before he had time to fire, young Messig wrested the gun from the elder man and shot him. The boy was arrested.

Duluth, Minn., Nov. 9.—A special dispatch from Hingham, Minn., says that Ellen Geary, aged 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Geary, was shot and accidentally killed yesterday afternoon while rehearsing with other children in an amateur play. She was the "villainess." Russell Barrett, aged 13, was the "hero." While reciting the lines of the play young Barrett aimed a gun, not supposed to be loaded, at the girl and pulled the trigger. The little one fell dead with a bullet in her brain. The tragedy occurred at the home of W. C. Barrett, father of the boy.

GOODWIN TAKES WIFE
FOR FOURTH TIMEActor's New Helpmeet Has Been Married
Once Before—She Was Edna Goodrich, Also of the Stage.

Boston, Nov. 9.—Nat G. Goodwin, one of the leading comedians on the American stage, and Edna Goodrich, a well known actress who formerly starred with Mr. Goodwin, were married at 1 o'clock yesterday at the home of Mr. Goodwin's mother on St. Botolph street, this city. The ceremony was performed by a justice of the peace, who has been a friend of Mr. Goodwin since boyhood, but whose name was not made public.

The wedding party arrived here from New York early yesterday and comprised Mrs. Nellie Stevens, mother of the bride; Mr. Goodwin, Miss Goodrich and George O. Weeden, Mr. Goodwin's manager. These, with Mr. Goodwin's mother, were the only ones present at the ceremony. The house was decorated with roses, lilacs of the valley and ferns. A wedding breakfast was served after the ceremony.

The couple remained in Boston until late last evening, taking the midnight train for New York, where Mr. Goodwin will resume rehearsals for his new play. His wife will accompany him upon the tour, but will not appear in the cast.

The wedding marks the fourth marriage of Mr. Goodwin, and the second of Miss Goodrich.

The wedding took place in Boston, said Mr. Goodwin, that he might see his mother before he started on his season's work, which would prevent his again coming to Boston for some months.

"No, my marriage will not in the least affect my stage ambitions," declared Mrs. Goodwin. "I hope it will materially aid them. On account of my health I will not return to the stage this winter, but will take a good long rest."

POLL TAX RECEIPTS
EXCEEDED BY THEIR COSTFiscular State of Affairs Displayed in Boston as Result of Finance Committee's Report.

Boston, Nov. 9.—Declaring that the numbers of employees in the assessing department in the city of Boston is excessive and that the antiquated method of doing business is extravagant, the finance committee yesterday issued its report covering an investigation of the department through a term of thirteen years. Recommendations are made which, it is claimed, will save the city $61,000 a year.

The commission finds that from one-half to three-fourths the citizens escape paying poll taxes and that the cost of assessing and collecting is $115,000, or more than the poll tax receipts. Extravagant pay, from $5.50 to $14 a day, is paid copying clerks, while typewriters might be employed at much less expense, it is further claimed.

The commission recommends that a system be devised to do away with duplication of work in assessing polls, that the work of recording poll taxes be simplified and the payment of the polls be enforced, that the number of assessors be reduced from nine to five and salaries and number of employees be reduced.

PAPER MILL STRIKE ENDS
AT BELLOWS FALLSMen Voted Yesterday to Resume Work Within the Terms of Their Employers—Several Hundred Interested.

Bellows Falls, Nov. 9.—The strike of the employees of the International Paper company in this town was ended yesterday, the men having been out since August.

At a meeting of the local union of the paper makers yesterday afternoon they voted to return to work on the company's terms—as individuals, the old men to be employed as far as possible, and if no situations are available their names to be placed on file to await vacancies. The new men that have been hired during the strike will be retained.

The strikers have been very orderly, not one disturbance having occurred. This decision will affect nearly 300 employees, and business men are much pleased that the trouble is over.

The water in the Connecticut river is very low, which will interfere with the starting of some of the machines, but all will be running full time inside of two weeks if possible.

BIG CROWDS
AT SERVICESOf "King's Business" Campaign Yesterday

MEETINGS IN OPERA HOUSE

Service in the Afternoon Was a Talk to Men Only, While Evening Service Was a Mass Meeting.

The "King's Business" evangelistic movement in Barre, which is being participated in by four churches of the city, had some enthusiastic meetings yesterday, the opera house being used for a special men's meeting in the afternoon and again for a mass meeting in the evening. The meetings will continue throughout the week. Similar meetings were held in Montpelier yesterday before good audiences.

Fully 600 men were present at the services for men conducted by Rev. D. S. Toy in the afternoon. The service was opened with prayer by Rev. W. E. Braisted, and a general song service followed. Frank Dickson sang a solo, "Where Will You Spend Eternity?" Mr. Toy spoke upon the subject, "Sowing and Reaping," taking his text from the sixth chapter of Galatians, the seventh verse, "Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man sows, that shall he also reap."

Mr. Toy said in part: "Our object in coming here is to make good men and women better and to make bad men and women good. Our message is Jesus Christ, the Savior, and He is the only hope of a man, whether he be Jew, Gentile or Roman. We have all been deceived at some time or other by persons that we thought were our friends. We have all been deceived by Satan, who has been a liar and deceiver from the beginning, and he is still a liar and deceiver. Many have been deceived by their own hearts in thinking that they could overcome the power of sin."

"Many have been deceived by thinking that they could overcome the power of drink, but when they attempted to do so found that they were fast in the clutches of an awful habit. You may be deceived by your friends, by the devil, and by your own heart, but God says, 'Be not deceived in things that pertain to eternity. It is true that that which he sows he shall also reap. It is true both in the Bible and in nature.'"

There comes a time when the question is put to you, 'What are you? Who are you? Where are you going? I am glad that you spend eternity. I am glad that you come a time when the conscience is aroused and these questions come to every man. Many who have good reputations have bad characters. Reputations are what the world sees, characters are what God sees. We cannot even deceive the world, for it knows more about us than we think.'

You can defy God, but that doesn't change the fact that what you sow you will reap. If you sow a thought you will reap an act, if you sow an act you will reap a character, if you sow a character you will reap a destiny. If you sow whiskey you will reap drunkards. No man expects to reap wheat and reap corn.

If you sow cards you will reap gamblers. I would rather have a pair of rattlesnakes than a pack of cards in my house. We cannot stop gambling until we stop making gamblers. If you sow adultery you will reap adulterers, and if you sow immorality you will reap immoral people. You sow what you reap, Jesus Christ can save you.

Dr. Toy then requested all who believed in Jesus Christ to stand, and also all who wished to be saved through Him.

The Evening Service.

"I am here to-night to say that no man goes to hell because he is a thief or a drunkard or a murderer, but because he refuses to receive Jesus Christ," declared the Rev. D. S. Toy in an inspiring sermon at the evangelistic meeting in the opera house last evening, before an audience that filled nearly every seat in the house. The auditorium was crowded with men, women and children, and the balcony had to be opened up and the overflow filled most of the seats there. A mixed chorus of 50 voices was seated on the stage and sang under the direction of Mr. Dickinson.

The text of the sermon by the Rev. Mr. Toy was, "He that hath the Son hath life; he that hath not the Son of God hath not life." The word of God, he said, says that by nature man is dead spiritually and can only be made alive through Christ Jesus. Unsaved souls are dead. No one is more than two-thirds a man or a woman if he or she has not received Jesus Christ. Just so far above the vegetable life is the animal life, so far above the human life is the spiritual life of the kingdom of Heaven. There is only one passport into heaven and that is Jesus Christ.

Jesus performed three marvelous miracles which were intended to help those who came after him. I refer to the three resurrections that Christ performed, and they represent three different classes of people. One was raised from the dead, a second was raised from the grave, the third was raised from the dead. One was a ruler in the synagogue, the second an only daughter, and the third an only brother.

One of the hardest things we have to do is to make people believe that young children are dead spiritually if they have not received Christ. I say that any person without Christ is dead. There is no difference between a poor miserable drunkard and a young woman whose character is unquestionable, but has not received Jesus Christ. You say that the drunkard is lost because he is a drunkard, but that is not so. They are both lost because they have not accepted Jesus Christ. It is not your morality alone that saves you. If you will accept Jesus to-night you will be saved and brought from death to life."

At the close of the sermon the speaker directed that cards be passed around by the personal workers for everyone in the audience who had never become associated with any church to sign, stating the church of their preference, these cards to be turned over to the ministers of the respective churches named.

ROBBED C. E. TAYNTOR
OF $10,000 WORTHTrying Time Which The Wealthy Granite Dealer Had With Robbers in His Brooklyn Home.

Charles E. Tayntor of New York city head of the granite firm of C. E. Tayntor & Co., which formerly had a large interest in Barre, had a very exciting experience while being robbed of $10,000 worth of valuables in his home early Sunday morning as told in the following dispatch:

New York, Nov. 9.—With the piercing ray of a burglar's dark lantern shining in their eyes and two revolvers held in menacing positions covering them, the five members of the family of Charles E. Tayntor, a wealthy granite dealer, lay in bed in the Tayntor home at Borough Park, Brooklyn, for more than an hour Sunday morning while a third masked burglar packed up $10,000 worth of jewelry and silverware. Then the burglars hurried to the front door and out and escaped with their booty. Mr. Tayntor is known as a crack shot, being a member of the New York Rifle association and having been a contestant, it is said, in the recent Olympic pistol tournament at Biele, England. It is believed that the burglars knew that and took no chances with him.

The three men gained entrance to the house by breaking a window on the ground floor. One of the burglars struck Mr. Tayntor a crushing blow on the head with a blackjack as he lay asleep. The blow stunned the sleeper and a few minutes later when Mr. Tayntor recovered his senses he found three revolvers leveled at him.

Mr. and Mrs. Tayntor were made to sit up in bed and two of the burglars held them covered while a third began a search of the room. The noise awakened Alice Tayntor, the fifteen-year-old daughter of the granite dealer, and she came into the room crying. The burglars ordered her into bed with her parents and the child obeyed. A moment later Charles Tayntor aged eight and Harold 12, came into the room, having been awakened. They were made to sit on the side of the bed.

The burglar who was ransacking the room found a jewel case with two wedding rings in it on the bureau and was about to take them when Mrs. Tayntor asked him not to. The robber replied that he would take everything of value he could find, but one of his pals said: "Don't take those wedding rings. I am a married man and have some sentiment about wedding rings," he said.

The rings were left, but two toy banks belonging to the Tayntor boys were broken and rifled of $17. When the room had been completely searched the third robber went down stairs and packed up the silverware. Later he returned to the bedside and commanded Mr. Tayntor to give up a $300 diamond ring he wore. The ring was not given up, but one of the burglars drew a jackknife and was going to cut off Mr. Tayntor's finger. Mr. Tayntor protested and asked permission to go to the bathroom and soak the ring off with soap and water.

"We will do that ourselves," said the man who appeared to be the leader of the gang, and he forthwith escorted Tayntor to the bathroom and secured the ring. After this the leader lifted Mr. Tayntor's pillow and found a revolver under it.

He laughed and dropped the weapon into his pocket. Then the three men produced rope and bound Mr. Tayntor's hands and feet and escaped.

GRACE TOO SLIPPERY.

Hanson Couldn't 1 w Him Three Times in T. H. House.

The audience which gathered at the opera house to see the Grace-Hanson wrestling match Saturday evening, got the full worth of its money in one of the cleanest and best exhibitions of catch-as-catch-can wrestling ever seen in the state. According to the terms of the agreement, Hanson had to throw Grace three times in two hours or forfeit the purse, the winner to take all, and as he was unable to deliver the goods and only had the New York boy's not come out on his feet during the bout, the money went to Grace.

The match was at catch weights and it was expected that Hanson would be considerably the heavier, but the men were about evenly matched in weight, although Hanson appeared in considerably the better condition. As the men began their combat, Hanson was applauded, Grace especially having made many warm admirers in his visits to this city.

They started with all the tricks known to the craft, and Grace, instead of acting on the defensive wholly, as might have been expected for the term of the match, took the offensive fully his share of the time. Hanson apparently realized that he had tackled a hard proposition, and got busy early in the bout and tried his opponent out with various holds, but Grace showed considerable skill and the Swede was unable to hold him.

The body was taken to Dr. A. L. Ringham's automobile to the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Fortune, the lad's parents. He was the eldest of eight children and helped in the support of the family.

When the revolver was discharged Fortune and Wellington were looking over the scene. Wellington, who is about 25 years old, was firing a revolver when he was discharged, the bullet striking Fortune above the left temple.

Medical aid was quickly summoned and the ambulance ordered from Burlington to take the wounded boy to the Mary Fletcher hospital. He was breathless when the trip was begun but died about two o'clock in the afternoon when half way to Burlington. The ambulance had just reached Muddy brook and was in front of the old Pine Tree Inn when Fortune expired.

FIRST BUCKS
BROUGHT DOWNLong-deferred Season Opened at Midnight

BIG SLAUGHTER EXPECTED

John J. Sowles Was First Barre Man to Report a Buck—A Williston Man Killed While Getting Ready to Hunt.

To-day marked the opening of the long deferred deer hunting season, and the last stroke of midnight found many of the local hunters in the woods and ready for the first gleam of dawn for a shot at that buck which had been running in their minds since last season. Many of the local hunters, near-hunters and woodchoppers started for the woods and old pastures, where deer are supposed to roam, as many as three days ago to get the lay of the land, and more left yesterday and this morning. To-day not a rifle has been seen in the city, and those men who have been talking hunting all summer are conspicuous by their absence.

A Washington man got a fine buck early this morning. The successful hunter was Ernest Bernasconi, who started out early this morning, and about eight o'clock succeeded in bringing down a handsome three-prong buck on the George Tremblay farm in that town. The deer was brought to the Smith & Cummings market in this city, and was found to weigh over 200 pounds.

John J. Sowles, who went to Waterbury yesterday afternoon in company with Dell V. Stone and thence to Bolton mountain, brought down a large buck early this morning, and he will bring the carcass home with him. He telephoned his good fortune, saying that he got a shot at the animal early in the morning.

E. E. Jacobs of Montpelier shot a large buck in Calais this morning weighing about 350 pounds. Harold Barnes, also of Montpelier, had only 15 years of age, is the proudest boy in the capital city to-day as the result of his shooting a big buck in Waterbury this morning. Orrin Hills of Middlesex brought down a 250-pound animal in Middlesex. Richard Stacy of Montpelier, another youth, got a shot at the same buck but didn't hit. Middlesex Center was in the hunting-ground where Wells Chamberlain, one of the town license commissioners, got a 247-pound animal.

Bernard Hersey of Montpelier got word this morning from his two brothers, Glenn and B. L. Hersey, out hunting in East Montpelier, that they had secured a buck. They got one apiece last year.

Dr. C. H. Burr of Montpelier shot a fine buck in Middlesex and E. H. Skagston got one on the East Montpelier road. Mark Nelson killed a buck near the Harry Cummings farm.

A four-prong buck was killed by George Jarvis on the Lapham place, near Montpelier. The month weighed 300 pounds dressed. George Page secured his trophy in the Jones brook neighborhood. C. S. McNulty of Worcester sighted a three-point buck on the Jewett property and promptly brought the animal down.

One case of deer shooting was reported early to-day from Montpelier. H. O. Kant of Montpelier, getting a letter from G. S. Knapp, one of the local electric car employes, that a doe had been found in Montpelier.

The conditions are favorable to a large slaughter of the animals, as the slight snow which still remains in the deep woods makes tracking of the animals easier and also serves to deaden the sounds from the hunters. The first fatality of the season was reported in the death of Herbert Fortune of Williston yesterday as he was getting ready to start for the woods.

Williston, Nov. 9.—Herbert Fortune, aged 17 years, is dead as the result of preparations yesterday for the deer hunting season. He was employed at Frank Talcott's and with a fellow laborer, Gus Wellington, was looking over the scene. Wellington, who is about 25 years old, was firing a revolver when he was discharged, the bullet striking Fortune above the left temple.

AN EVENING SESSION
OF THE LEGISLATUREWill Be Held Tonight at The State House, Followed By An Important
Tax Bill Hearing.

State House, Nov. 9.
Neither branch of the legislature was in session this afternoon, but pursuant to adjournment vote they will both convene this evening at 7:30 o'clock, thus giving an opportunity to see the legislature in session for those who cannot be present during the daytime. This is the sixth week of the 1908 session and up to the present time little, very little, has been done. Beginning with tonight the taxation problem will be tackled and a hearing will be held in Representatives hall, after the session, at which the bills covering the establishment of a state board of taxation, the bill establishing a flat rate for intangible property and the bill abolishing offsets will be considered.

Forty bills are in the hands of the revision committee ready to be introduced into the House this evening. Tuesday is the last day for the introduction of bills except by unanimous consent, although bills to be introduced into either house that are in the hands of the revision committee on or before Tuesday evening will be treated as introduced. It will probably take nearly all the week to get them into shape and before the respective bodies.

Among the bills to be introduced into the House this evening by Mr. Williams of Newport is an administration measure to abolish all offsets. This bill is very short, not over five lines. It was drawn some time ago and except for a misunderstanding would have been introduced the first of last week.

GOLDIE SUN McLEOD UP

She Is Charged With Larceny and Denies It—A Raid Made by Police—
One Officer Arrests a Braço of Men.

Two intoxication cases, a larceny case and a raid is the city court record for Saturday night and this morning. Saturday night Mrs. Georgia McLeod, or Goldie Sun, as she is better known in the police circles, was arrested on a warrant charging her with the alleged larceny of a gold chain and locket and a fur box belonging to Dora Geary. When arraigned in court she was wearing the box and admitted that it was Dora's, but she claimed that Dora let her take it to wear home. The gold chain and locket she claimed she did not know anything about, and entered a plea of not guilty. The case was continued until Nov. 13, and she was allowed to go on her own recognizance.

Chief Faulkner and Officers Carl and Hamel raided the house occupied by Dominico Guidici on River street Saturday night and seized a few bottles of beer and a quantity of empty beer bottles. Guidici was arrested and arraigned in court this morning on the charge of keeping with the intent to sell and as the owner of the liquor. He pleaded not guilty and the case was continued until Friday for a hearing. He was admitted to bail of $450, which was furnished by Desiderio Guidici. The warrant for the raid was issued by Grand Juror E. R. Davis.

Yesterday afternoon Officer Carl arrested, both at the same time, Albert B. Wilfore and Ed. J. Downs, and looked them up on the charge of intoxication. Wilfore pleaded guilty, this morning to a first offense and paid a total of $10.65. Downs was arraigned for a subsequent offense and he pleaded not guilty. The case was set for trial on Nov. 25, and he was allowed to go on bail of $50.

A YEAR ON THE WATER.

Barre Boy Has Seen Many Parts of the World.

Irving Page, a former Barre boy, who has been in the United States navy for the past year, is visiting friends in the city and tells some interesting tales of his experiences while aboard the battleship Alabama, which went as far as San Francisco with the fleet in its trip around the world and was then sent out on special service. Owing to their condition, two of the battleships, the Alabama and the Maine were not sent with the fleet on the round-the-world cruise, but instead took an independent cruise in another direction.

Leaving New York with the fleet they went to Trinidad in the British West Indies, then to Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, to Santos, Brazil, and on to a stop. From Honolulu they went to Guam, in the Ladrones islands and from there to Singapore, India, Colombo, Ceylon, and then to
